GOING BALD IN LONGBARN! ... on purpose but all for a good cause

AN 8-year-old Longbarn lad & his dad are planning to do a sponsored head shave to help raise funds for St Rocco's Hospice in Warrington.

Daniel Cowell has decided he wants to help raise funds for the hospice. And he's talked his dad Martin, into joining him – a remarkable achievement as “daddy is precious about his hair!”

Bless ☺

The pair are hoping to raise £2,500 for the charity, which launched a fund-raising appeal following the cancellation of various events due to the coronavirus lockdown.

Martin said, “Myself & Daniel will be shaving our hair off for St Rocco's Hospice because we want to help those in need.

“When Daniel said what he wanted to do to help sick people, I couldn't really say no.”

St Rocco's does a famous job & it's work touches so many lives of folk in our community.

If you wish to help Daniel & his dad reach their charity target total of £2,500, donations can be made via
